The news colums of the papers are present ing highly interesting stories from Chicago just now. They vary in details, according to the leaning of the writers and their Journals toward one or the other of the two lead. ing candidates for the presidential no mination, and the reader can provide himself with the kind of information about the political situation which best fits in with his own desires by the slight effort of picking out the paper that agrees with his views. But there is one common element in all the stories, of whatever stripe of partizanship. They all agree that there has been a marked revival of confidence among the followers of President Taft and a corresponding depression among the adherents of Mr. Roosevelt.

This change in sentiment is a radical reversal of the opinions expressed by the two wings of the party a few days ago, and its appearance tempts one to remark upon the causes that have led up to it, but there is little to be gained by enlarging on that phase of the subject. It is past, whatever it means, and the present effects from it are shifting so rapidly that what might be said at one moment would be completely out of date the next. But is there not a clue to the future in this change of opinions? Does it not mean that the prospects have suddenly brightened up for Mr. Tafts reelection?

The moving influence of the change in the reported opinions is the arrival of the national committeemen upon the scene, and their attitude toward the the delicate situation in which the party finds itself at this juncture. They appeared to have lined up with the President. What does such a determination on their part indicate? Can it indicate anything but a belief that Mr. Taft is not only the logical candidate for the party this year, but that he stands the best chance of all of winning in the election?

These national committeemen, it should be remembered, are the shrewdest politicians in their respective communities. They must be superior in the arts of the political game or l

HAPPY THO' MARRIED?

There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, hollow and circled eyes, result most often from those disorders peculiar to women. For the woman to be happy and good-looking she must naturally have good health.

Dragging-down feelings, hysteria, hot-flashes or constantly returning pains and nches-are too great a drain upon a woman's vitality and strength. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health by regulating and correcting the local disorders which are generally responsible for the

they would not be in the places they fill for Graduation they get to be member of the national committee only along the route of successful politics. They are more closely in touch with their several districts than any other equal number of men in the country. Their views on the outlook and the policy of the party are the best that can be obtained anywhere. It is conceivable that these masters of politics would agree upon any candidate but the one who stood the best chance of winning? To suppose that would be to attribute to them a lack of capacity which is utterly inconsistent with their presence on the committee. What kind of party leaders are they who would deliberately prefer to lead to defeat when they might lead to victory?

The attitude of the committee, as the correspondents unite on portraying it, throws a light on the assertion, much heard of late, that the voters are overwhelmingly favorable t Mr. Roosevelt. That assertion rests on the primary returns, which on their face support it. But an invariable feature of the primary voting has been the unexpectedly small num. ber of ballots cast. A large proportion of the party has not been heard from at all, a proportion running all the way from 30 per cent. in some states up to 55 per cent in others. It is on this part of the electorate, and not on the counted minorities, that the election depends. Here is the silent vote that settles the outcome of every campaign. No one ever knows in advance to a certainty how it is leaning, but the trained politician ought to be able and generally is able, to guess about it more accurately than the inexpert observer. Is it not a fair inference that the trained men on the national committee believe that the silent vote will be with the president this fall? By no other explanation could their preference expense to the local teachers: Mrs. for Mr. Taft as a candidate be understood, for they are not surely so blinded by factional heat as to wreck their party for the sake of transient triumph in the convention with sure disaster later on.

The attitude of the National Committeemen confirms at the close of the preliminary campaign what was generally agreed among shrewd observers at its opening. If Mr. Taft cannot be elected he is the strongest candidate his party can present.—Detroit Free Press.

Lexington, Ky .- The Education Department of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs has started, this week, a School Suffrage campaign which will continue throughout the months of July, August and September. "The county school superintendents and progressive teachers will appre ciate more than any other class of per sons in Kentucky the gran of school suffrage to women, for they cational conditions. I believe, more-out a large school suffrage vote. "An earnest and continued interest on the part of the club women will soon bring about a realization of some of those educational ideals which we have long possessed: more convenient buildings and more beautiful grounds, better trained teachers and higher salaries, longer school terms and a larger per cent of attendance, courses in Domestic Science, Manual Training, and the Science of Agriculture, a curriculum that shall consider the needs of the individual child, and shall contribute something practical to his development."

A WORD WITH WOMEN

VALUABLE ADVICE FOR MAYSVILLE READERS

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells,d.zziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment; the passages are too frequent or scanty. Then help the weakened kidneys. Dun't expect

JUDGE A. Z. BLAIR.

UDGE A.Z. BLAIR, who is to be one of the leading speakers at the forthcoming Chautauqua, is now famous in all parts of the country as the judge from Adams county, O., who brought several hundred illegal voters to justice. In fact, some 2,000 citizens of Adams county who have heretofore indulged in selling their votes were disfranchised for a term of five years. Every paper in the country has printed columns about the affair, and magazines, including such prominent publications as the Review of Reviews, have also devoted lengthy articles to this subject and to the heroism and ability of Judge Blair. In speaking of him the editor of the Review of Reviews says, "There are traits of mind and character in Judge Blair that remind one of the patient and resolute country lawyer of Illinois who fifty years ago was president elect and about to enter upon his great burden of national responsibility." Judge Blair is as great a power on the platform as on the bench.

Asphalt commerce has always been guided rather by the uses to which the material could e put than by the discovery of new deposits. Thus asphalt was first brought to this country from the region of the Deal Sea and elsewhere in the East for making asphalt varnish, and especially for "japanning" metale.

So runs an old letter written in New York during the darkest days of the American Revolution. The British had captured New York and Philadelphia. To both cities-but chiefly to New York-they brought thousands of patriot soldiers, captured in battle, and many non-combatants who had risked freedom and life to help the cause of liberty by money, gifts or by

These unlucky captives were not treated like prisoners of war. They were housed and fed-or, rather, Germany at a price said to be $7,000 and the starved—in a way the law nowadays animal is now on the ocean on its way to would not permit for cattle or swine. And the man in charge of them was a blackguard whose own countrymen loathed him, William Cunningham.

Cunningham was the son of a Brit ish dragoon and was born in the régimental barracks at Dublin. In 1774 he came to America and settled in New York, where he made a living for some time by "breaking" colts and by giving riding lessons. When the Revolution broke out, in 1775, he became involved in a political row with some local patriots and was forced to flee to Boston, there to seek the protection of the British army.

His noisy loyalty to King George III. got him into trouble there and attracted the notice of Thomas Gage, the English general. Gage appointed him provost marshal to the royal army. His chance for "revenge" had Revolutionary prisoners there and in Philadelphia. There were several impromptu prisons in New York where the patriot captives were lodged. One was the city hall, another the famous old "Sugar House," another, King's (now Columbia) college; another the in City Hall park), torn down only a few years ago), and-worst of allthe "prison ship 'Jersey,'" moored on also turned into jails.

In the prison ship the captives were herded by hundreds in dark, foul pens. destitute of pure air and sunlight. They were given such food as a dog lar hard asphalts from Eastern Utah. The might well scorn, and in such tiny quantities as would not suffice to keep a dog alive. The water they Phone 520. drank was filthy. No medical care or chance for cleanliness or exercise was granted them. Prison fever and other maladies scourged their ranks. They died like so many flies. To such fearful condition were they reduced that the lowest city outcasts were touched by pity and secretly sent them food.

> The fate of the captives in the new gaol, or hall of records, was little better. Here is an extract from Pintard's account of their sufferings:

"So closely were they packed together that when they lay down at night to rest, on the hard oak planks, and they wished to turn, it was all together, by word of command-'right'-'left'-being so wedged as to form almost a solid mass of human

All war is cruel. But such torture the British government might perhaps have bettered matters had they chosen to) the lion's share of the blame was Cunningham's. Here is a portion of his sworn confession, made in 1791. just before his own execution: "I shudder to think of the murders

I have been accessory to, both with and without orders from government, especialy while in New York, during which time there were more than two thousand prisoners starved by stopping their rations (which I sold). There were also 275 American prisoners executed. A guard was despatched to forbid people to look out from their doors or windows on pain of death, after which the prisoners were conducted, gagged, at midnight. just behind the upper barracks, hung without trial and then buried."

Cunningham went back to England after the war and took to riotous living. Being short of money to squander on dissipation, he forged a draft. demned, and, on August 10, 1791, was hanged.

He is said to have been responsible for the shameful death of nearly 2,500 American patriots. Nor could mere hatred for the colonists account for this wholesale slaughter, since he dishonestly sold for his own profit the provisions allotted to them,
